CERTIFICATION PROGRAMME: RISK MANAGEMENT IN BANKING
SESSION 1: ONLINE & IN LUXEMBOURG BETWEEN 3 & 18 JUNE 2026
SESSION 2: ONLINE & IN LUXEMBOURG BETWEEN 6 & 22 OCTOBER 2026
BOTH SESSIONS WILL BE FOLLOWED BY AN ONLINE EXAM

Dear Madam, Sir,

Effective risk management is a critical priority across the entire financial industry. In the past, the ATTF has already provided a certification programme jointly developed by the Luxembourg Bankers' Association (ABBL) and the House of Training. This programme offers a recognised professional qualification tailored not only for banking professionals but also for managers and specialists from other areas of financial services who seek to build a strong foundation in risk management.

Following the reintroduction of this programme in 2025, we are happy to announce that this certification programme is back on our agenda this year and that the House of Training/ATTF, with the financial support of the Luxembourg Government, will offer 20 scholarships to the Certification Programme: Risk Management in Banking: 10 to the first session that will take place between 3 and 18 June, and another 10 to the second session that will take place between 6 and 22 October. Both sessions will be followed by online exams.

These two-week certification seminars in risk management offer a comprehensive overview of key risk management areas that are essential to the stability and performance of modern financial institutions. Designed for professionals seeking to strengthen both technical and interpersonal skills, the programme covers a wide range of topics: from core principles to specific risk categories such as operational risk, market risk, credit risk, and liquidity risk, all tailored to the banking sector. The curriculum also includes specialised modules on ESG risks, information security, data protection, and the impact of artificial intelligence on risk management. Particular emphasis is placed on the development of soft skills, which are critical for effective and ethical risk oversight within organisations.

Developed in collaboration with the ABBL, these seminars reflect the industry's best practices and emerging regulatory expectations. Combining theory, practical case studies, and a final assessment in the form of multiple-choice questions, they equip participants with the tools needed to anticipate, assess, and manage risks in an ever-evolving environment.

The 20 selected professionals will join Luxembourg-based peers in these intensive 11-day training courses, which will be organised in a hybrid format and consist of an introductory e-learning module, online sessions covering the fundamentals of risk management, two weeks of face-to-face courses on location in Luxembourg, and an online exam.

Financial conditions

The costs of the course will be covered by the Luxembourg Government; the selected participants won't need to pay any contribution fees.

However, all costs related to the participants' trip to Luxembourg and their stay will have to be covered by the participants. They will also be responsible for booking their flights and their accommodation in Luxembourg.

For more details, please refer to the Financial Conditions which you will find attached.
